The School of Canon Law

The School of Canon Law at the Catholic University of America announces an institute on tribunal practice in matrimonial cases, to be held on the University campus at Theological College, June 12-23, 2017. This program is designed for clergy, religious and laypersons who have not had formal training in tribunal practices and procedures.

The Institute will provide an introduction to the terms and concepts of diocesan tribunal practice and an overview of the procedures and jurisprudence that apply to marriage cases processed in church courts today. Case study sessions will add a practical dimension to the program.

The Institute continues a tradition begun in 1967. Institute participants have included those involved in parish ministry and various types of tribunal work, as well as others interested in the subject matter.

Space is limited. Applicants are accepted on a first-come basis until all positions have been filled. Admission is not completed until both the application and Institute fee have been received.

In addition to scheduled classes, faculty members will be available for individual consultation. Evening discussions may also be scheduled.
